A STORY TO TELL ABOUT.....

An Expat wife and how she has found her personal fulfillment in Singapore

Emmanuelle arrived in Singapore in 2006 with her husband and their 3 children. The first years she enjoyed the life here, discovering the city, the culture, doing a lot of sport and activities like painting, and of course hours of shopping! Living in Singapore is so easy, so enjoyable....

One day, Emmanuelle met at the French School, Benoit Duchateau Arminjon, founder of Krousar Thmey, a Cambodian Foundation. She was so impressed by the work done for the children that she decided to become involved supporting this organization which provides deprived Cambodian children with material, educational and social support in harmony with their environment and respectful of their traditions and beliefs. Krousar Thmey which means New Family, is an apolitical, non-religious organization that is state-approved in Cambodia, France, Switzerland and the United Kingdom. Since 1991, Krousar Thmey has been committed to three kinds of activities all over Cambodia:

1. Education and schooling support for deprived children and particularly blind and deaf children
2. Child welfare with Street Children Centres and Family Houses
3. Cultural and artistic development to allow children to rediscover the Khmer Tradition All projects are run by Cambodians for Cambodians: more than 1,100 children taken in charge and around 2,700 others receive financial or material support.

To sustain such a commitment is widely dependent on the work and engagement of the volunteers and donors from all around the world. And that is where Emmanuelle and her Family have found great satisfaction devoting part of their time to the success of such a Foundation.
